>\tBut DISA has confirmed to the BBC that it was a victim of a cyberattack when computer systems controlled by it were hacked.

> The breach occurred between May and July 2019, according to Reuters, which reported the story earlier Thursday.\n\nAh. So until Reuters broke the news, DISA had managed to successfully conceal this and avoid notifying any personnel whose information was compromised [Deny, Disappointment]. \n\nThat's the DISA we've all come to know and loathe.
